DETAILED ACTION

Claim Objections

Claims 19, 20 are objected to under 37 CFR 1.75(c) as being in improper form because a multiple dependent claim should refer to other claims in the alternative only, and/or, cannot depend from any other multiple dependent claim. See MPEP § 608.01(n). Accordingly, the claims have not been further treated on the merits.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless -

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 1-4, 6-7, 9, 11-12, 16-17, 19-21 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Mikuriya et al. (U.S. Pub No. 20020091485).

As to claims 1, 16, Mikuriya et al. disclose a data product that can be read by a computer or a map data processing apparatus, comprising: map data including map-related information related to a map wherein the map related information includes a compilation of a plurality of information elements of a single type; the map information related information can be updated in units of the individual information elements at the map data processing apparatus; and the map-related information includes management information used to manage the map-related information, which is also updated when the map related information is updated in units of the individual information elements (See paragraph 0004, 0085).

Art Unit: 3661

As to claim 2, Mikuriya et al. disclose roads are each indicated as a link string having one or more continuous links, with nodes representing points on the roads and each link representing a road portion connecting two adjacent nodes; and the information elements each correspond to information related to a link string (See paragraph 0007, 0008, 0012).

As to claims 3-4, Mikuriya et al. disclose the information related to the link string includes node position information indicating a position of a node contained in the link string wherein information related to the link string includes guidance information related to the link string (see paragraph 0010, 0023, 0027, 0082).

As to claims 6-7, 9, 11, 12, 17, Mikuriya et al. disclose the map related information is information related to a background used to display a road map; and the information elements each constitute information related to a background object corresponding to a single display management unit; it also discloses the map related information is information related to connections of the nodes (links) used for route calculation (See paragraph 0082-0083, 0087-0088, 0099).

As to claims 19-20, Mikuriya et al. disclose data product is a recording medium having recorded therein the map data (See paragraph 0015); and the information elements include identification information (See paragraph 0134).

Art Unit: 3661

As to claim 21, Mikuriya et al. disclose a map data processing apparatus comprising a recording medium (storing medium) (See paragraph 0015) drive means having loaded therein a recording medium that is a data product according to claim 20, an update data acquisition means for acquiring update data used to update map-related information in units of the individual information units (See paragraph 0002); and a processing means for processing map data based upon the map data recorded in the recording medium and the update data acquired by the update data acquisition means (See paragraph 0004, 0085).

Double Patenting

The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. A nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting rejection is appropriate where the conflicting claims are not identical, but at least one examined application claim is not patentably distinct from the reference claim(s) because the examined application claim is either anticipated by, or would have been obvious over, the reference claim(s). See, e.g., In re Berg, 140 F.3d 1428, 46 USPQ2d 1226 (Fed. Cir. 1998); In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) or 1.321(d) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent either is shown to be commonly owned with this application, or claims an invention made as a result of activities undertaken within the scope of a joint research agreement.

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

Claims 1-21 are provisionally rejected on the ground of nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-31 of copending Application No. 10/514,423. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. A nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting rejection is appropriate where the conflicting claims are not identical, but at least one examined application claim is not patentably distinct from the reference claim(s) because the examined application claim is either anticipated by, or would have been obvious over, the reference claim(s). See, e.g., In re Berg, 140 F.3d 1428, 46 USPQ2d 1226 (Fed. Cir. 1998); In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969). In other words, claim 1 of US Application No. 10/514,423 fully encompasses the subject matter of claim 1 of the application and therefore anticipates claim 1.

This is a provisional obviousness-type double patenting rejection because the conflicting claims have not in fact been patented.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 5, 8, 10, 13-15, 18, are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.
